

BORN OF THE FIELD

RAISED BY THE SOUND

BOTTLED IN BOND

*Terroir Influenced
Maritime High-Wheated
Straight Wheated
Bourbon Whiskey*

Surrounded by centuries old farm fields, Field & Sound is distilled and matured on the bluffs of the Long Island Sound. The bucolic North Fork of Long Island is home to dozens of pre-revolutionary family-owned working farms that have been blessed with loamy soils and a microclimate that extends their growing season.

Field & Sound Wheated Bourbon is uniquely influenced by maturing under the conditions of this Maritime environment.

Distilled & Bottled By Long Island Spirits, Baiting Hollow, NY

Small Batch

Defined differently by each distiller, as this term is not as strictly regulated as single barrel is. Typically, small batch means fewer than thirty barrels. These barrels, from certain areas of the barrel house, are married, rested and bottled as one product, blended to maintain a consistent flavor profile from batch to batch.

DSP # (Distilled in, Bottled by)

To maintain true authenticity of origin, Federal and state laws require that each bottle be labeled where it was distilled and bottled. Each bottle requires that the DSP - Distilled Spirits Plant license number be disclosed on each bottle. Field & Sound is distilled and bottled by Long Island Spirits, thus DSP-NY-15015.

Mash Bill

60% Corn, 33% Rye, 7% Malted Barley

Sweet Mash

A mash made without the use of backset/sour mash as a starter for fermentation for better consistency and more control.

Maritime Whiskey

There is a subtle briny note that reveals itself and intensifies in our whiskeys as they mature. The barrel house backs up to acres of farm fields, only separated from the bluffs of the Long Island Sound by a small tree line. Similar to the conditions on the west coast of Scotland, the windswept fields and salty sea spray are responsible for enhancing Field & Sound Wheated Bourbon with these refined maritime flavors.

Label Design Elements

The label's background incorporates subtle imagery of Long Island's rolling grain fields and the endless pulse of the waves of the Sound.

Straight | Bourbon

Bourbon can only be made in the USA by International Law as it is our National Spirit and provenance of the USA. To be classified as a Bourbon whiskey, Federal Law stipulates that it cannot be distilled above 160 Proof from a fermented mash of no less than 51% corn and the barrels must be filled at no more than 125 proof in new charred oak barrels.

Field & Sound has a high Rye mash bill of 60% Corn, 33% Rye and 7% Malted Barley (2:1 Corn: Rye vs common 4:1). It is aged for a minimum of 4 years in new American white oak barrels or Quercus Alba. Barrels are charred for about 30 seconds to a char 2 level, which preserves natural oak aroma and flavor. Federal guidelines classify the use of "Straight" without an age statement as matured a minimum of 4 years in new American charred oak.

Bottled in Bond (BIB aka Bonded)

Bottled in bond is a label for an American-made distilled beverage, usually whiskey, that has been aged and bottled according to a set of legal regulations contained in the US government's Standards of Identity for Distilled Spirits. It was put in place in 1897 as a government-backed guarantee of a product's quality and authenticity at a time when adulteration of spirits was relatively common.

To be labeled as bottled in bond or bonded:

- The spirit must be the product of one distillation season by one distiller at one distillery.
- It must have been aged in a federally bonded warehouse under US government supervision for at least four years and bottled at 100 (US) proof (50% alcohol by volume).
- The bottled product's label must identify the distillery where it was distilled and, if different, where it was bottled.
- Only spirits produced in the USA may be designated as bonded.
